Terry Lynn Johnson was a woman with a heart of gold. She dedicated her life to rescuing and training abandoned dogs, giving them a second chance at life. Together with her team of extraordinary canine companions, she embarked on a remarkable journey that transformed the lives of countless people.

Dog Driven is the incredible story of Terry's life and work. It is a heartwarming tale of hope, determination, and the unbreakable bond between humans and animals. Through her work with rescue dogs, Terry showed the world the power of love and compassion. She inspired others to open their hearts and homes to abandoned animals, and she proved that even the most troubled dogs can be rehabilitated and trained to become valuable members of society.

Terry's story is a reminder that we all have the potential to make a difference in the world. Her work with rescue dogs is a shining example of how one person can make a positive impact on the lives of countless others. Dog Driven is a must-read for anyone who loves dogs, heartwarming stories, or inspiring journeys.

About the Author

Terry Lynn Johnson was born in 1953 in San Diego, California. She began working with dogs at a young age, and she quickly developed a passion for helping abandoned and abused animals. In 1995, she founded her own dog rescue organization, Second Chance Dog Rescue. Over the years, Terry and her team of volunteers rescued and trained hundreds of dogs, many of whom went on to become therapy dogs, service dogs, and beloved family pets.

Terry passed away in 2020, but her legacy continues through her work with Second Chance Dog Rescue. The organization is now run by Terry's daughter, Jessica. Jessica is committed to continuing her mother's work of rescuing and training dogs, and she is dedicated to helping every dog find a loving home.
